

Group Educational Opportunities in New York City

Who We Are...

Broadway Kids Auditions is a premier youth training program with over a decade of experience in providing comprehensive theatrical education that combines technical instruction and creative exploration with exposure to top industry professionals in the vibrant heart of New York City. We seek to empower our students through the development of skills and building of confidence while instilling professionalism and knowledge of industry standards within a nurturing space that encourages discovery of their own unique artistic voices both in and out of the audition room.

What We Do...

In addition to private coaching, industry showcases, casting director workshops, masterclasses with Broadway professionals and performance opportunities, BKA also offers Group Educational Opportunities in NYC. At BKA, we are passionate about nurturing young talent and fostering the next generation of performers and are dedicated to providing exceptional group educational experiences for aspiring young artists. This programming is ideal for out of town theatre groups or dance studios wanting to provide a fully immersive and customizable Broadway training experience.

Where?

BKA holds in-person classes and workshops at professional rehearsal studios that are easily accessible by subway and are rented to accommodate your specific group's needs. We additionally offer several options via Zoom that can be curated to create a virtual group experience.

How?

Contact BKA founder Kurt Domoney at broadwaykidsauditions@gmail.com for more information on dates and package options.
